WAS BORN IN NEWBURY.

Carlos M. Morse, an Old Hotel Man at Plymouth, N. H.

Plymouth, N. H., Oct. 9.—Carlos M. Morse, one of the early White Mountain landlords with a reputation for his New England states ever died at his Highland street home yesterday morning.

Mr. Morse was born at Newbury, Vt., Jan. 19, 1829, and was the son of Timothy Morse, a prosperous Vermont merchant. In 1852 he disposed of his interests in his father's business and two years later came to Plymouth, where he has since resided. He assumed charge of the historic Penikese hotel and with the exception of five years from 1864 to 1869 was its successful manager. Under his operation the hotel became famous the country over, and it is doubtful if any hotel outside of the city ever gave accommodation to so many prominent people.

Mr. Morse was the manager at the time Nathaniel Hawthorne died here and also at the time of the demise of the late Hon. John E. Lyon, the president of the old Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad. The hotel was burned in May of the present year.

In 1893 Mr. Morse married Sarah R. Gale of Wells River, Vt., who survives him. Mrs. Morse is an invalid and on account of her serious condition the death of her husband has not been made known to her.

At the time of retiring from business Mr. Morse purchased the summer home of Hon. Amos M. Rider of New York where he has since resided with his wife. Two children were the result of the union, a daughter who died in infancy, and George Warren Morse, who died in April, 1903. The son was a prosperous hotel man, being employed at the Raymond at Pasadena, Calif., at the Windsor at Montreal, and at the Vendome, Westminster and other Boston hostels.

Mr. Morse has been in failing health for some time but naturally of a courageous nature he has kept out of doors until within a few days. As a horse fancier he was well known and in his life had owned, swapped and traded hundreds of animals. His delight was to be with his devoted wife out on the country roads spinning along behind a spanking pair, of which he always had a stable full.

The funeral will take place at the home on Monday next at 2 p. m., with interment at Trinity.

DROEGE'S ESCAPE.

Woman Helped Him Out of Jail, Say
Police.

Denver, Oct. 9.—In the escape of Oscar Droge, alleged embezzler of funds of a New York state hospital, from the city jail yesterday morning, Chief of Police Armstrong sees the hand of a woman confederate. Police authorities also believe that Droge's cellmate was in the plot, and withheld information of his escape for two hours, to permit Droge to get beyond capture. The revolver and saw which Droge used in making his escape are believed to have been handed in by a woman. All trace of Droge has been lost and it is now thought that he succeeded in leaving the city.

A thorough investigation of the laxity of the prison rules, which allowed Droge to be enabled in the woman's hospital ward instead of the jail proper, is being made by authorities higher up.

BAD BREAK OF LUCK
DECLARES JENNINGS

But He Claims His Team Will Come
Back Strongly Against Pittsburgh
This Afternoon.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—Base ball fans were lined up at the wicket to Forbes field stronger than ever for today's game between Pittsburgh and Detroit, and a bigger crowd than yesterday was expected. Manager Jennings of the Detroit team declared: "The Pirates haven't won a game. They had all the lucky breaks. Leach's catch of Cobb's snapper would have been a hit nine times out of ten." Summers is likely to go into the pitcher's box for the Tigers, while either Canessa or Willis will twirl for Pittsburgh today. The umpires will be Evans and Klein.

New York, Oct. 9.—Even money is being laid that all the National league teams will win out in their series with the American league teams. The betting is two to one on Pittsburgh and three to two that Detroit won't win a game.

HACKETT WON MARATHON.

Henri Dupuis of This City Fourteenth at Brockton.

Brockton, Mass., Oct. 9.—Comparatively fresh and with a clear head his nearest competitor William J. Hackett of North Weymouth made an auspicious start in the long distance running game, yesterday, by winning the second annual Marathon road race from Boston to the fair grounds here. His time for the approximately 25 miles was two hours, 37 minutes 20 1/5 seconds.

Hackett had never previously run more than five miles in competition. He led over the latter part of the course, yesterday, and was well up in the early stages also.

Second place fell to R. F. Piggett of the Cambridge Gymnasium association, whose sprint in the closing miles enabled him to pass two of the three leaders and to close on Hackett. Piggett was about one-third of a mile behind the leader at the finish.

Little Charles Appleby, of the Mercury A. C., Yonkers, N. Y., was third; his clubmate, Lawrence Stride, was fourth, and P. J. Silva of the South Boston Athletic club, was fifth.

A score of other runners also finished, but were given the finish signal at the entrance to the grounds, nearly three-fourths of a mile sooner than the first five. The leading quartet finished within ten minutes.

After the next four runners, went to the front of the grandstand and there received the prizes for their successful effort from the hands of Governor Deane.

Robert had been content with the position in the middle of the pack of runners until the half way mark was nearly reached when he moved up with the leaders. For several miles he ran even with Silva and Appleby, but nearing the goal he pulled away.

HORSES KILL AGED WOMAN.

Runaways Dash to Sidewalk and Trample
Two Sisters Under Hoofs.

Portland, Oct. 9.—One woman was killed and another severely hurt when a pair of horses pulling a furniture van dashed down Congress street yesterday taking to the crowded sidewalk near the corner of Oak street.

There were hundreds of people about as the frightened animals took to the sidewalk, and they all ran into doors, except Miss Louise L. E. Bowen, aged 70, and her sister, Mrs. Myra D. S. Collins, aged 60, both of Harrison, who stood helpless, as the horses came. With a crash the furniture van brought up against a police signal box and the next instant the two women were under the hoofs of the horses, trampled on and killed before the horses continued on their race toward Monument square.

The women were unconscious, when picked up and were carried into stores. Dr. Merrill and Dr. Smith were called. They ordered both women sent to the Maine General hospital.

Miss Bowen was just alive when she reached the hospital, and died a few moments after being carried into the operating room. The surgeons found that her skull was fractured and one leg broken, and that there were also serious internal injuries.

While Mrs. Collins was also badly bruised and cut and was suffering from shock, it is believed she will recover. The horses were caught in Monument square by Patrolman Henry Stevens and neither was even scratched. The pair are owned by G. G. Kenney, and the runaway was caused by a rein breaking.

Charge of Poisoning His Neighbor's
Cattle, Jury Reporting in Ruland County Court To-day.

Rutland, Oct. 9.—A lot of criminal business was done in Rutland county court to-day. John Reed of Orwell was found not guilty of poisoning the cattle of Rufus Lamphere of Benson, the case having been concluded yesterday afternoon. Three of Lamphere's cattle died from eating pumpkins into which arsenic had been introduced. The state tried to show that Reed had made threats to do away with Lamphere's cattle, but failed to satisfy the jury of the respondent's guilt.

Nicholas Derrick, an Italian resident of this city, pleaded guilty to-day to assaulting his wife with a knife, and he was sentenced to two and a half years in the house of correction. Derrick and his wife attended the Rutland county fair in this city on September 3, and toward evening they had an altercation over the sale of a pocket knife.

He was grabbed by bystanders and taken arrested, while Mrs. Derrick was taken to the Rutland hospital. Her injuries did not prove serious. It was said that Derrick wanted her to go home and she refused.

PLAN CORN-HUSKIN'.

It Will Be Held Right in Boston by Vermont Association.

Boston, Oct. 9.—Plans for the biggest corn husking party ever held in New England were discussed yesterday afternoon in the office of Gen. Charles K. Darling in the federal building, by a committee of the Vermont association, under the auspices of which the party will be held. The affair will take place in Mechanics' building, Nov. 5.

The idea of a husking party is a novel one, and it is believed that such an event was never before held outside a farm barn in the country. The committee will plan for 1,000 guests.

A carload of corn will be brought down from Vermont and a liberal sprinkling of red caps will furnish fun for those fortunate enough to find the coveted for winners. A Vermont band will come down to play for the ladies that always follows a husking, and the lunch will include pumpkin pie, butternuts, apples, cider and other fall delicacies right from the green hills.

The general committee in charge of the husking was named Thursday and is as follows: Charles H. Bradley, chairman; Gen. Charles K. Darling, Dr. W. A. Burnham, Fred G. Holden, Thomas J. Boynton, Col. Wm. M. Hatch, Charles H. Cross, Matt B. Jones, Col. Everett C. Benton, Ralph A. Stewart, and Linley M. Paul.

CANALS ON MARS FOR USE.

Prof. Archibald Says They Are For Drainage.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—Professor E. S. Archibald, director of the Trepow Anton astronomical observatory, commenting yesterday upon the idea that the canals on Mars were constructed for the purpose of signaling the earth, said he was unable to accept this view. In his opinion the canals on Mars were for the practical purpose of drawing off the enormous masses of snow water that evidently comes with the melting of the ice caps and to prevent inundation. This theory is confirmed by the fact that the canals, which at other times are indistinct, become sharply marked when the snow caps melt, and the professor says that they are built by throwing up dykes a few yards high.
